

the wine

The Book says “the apple tempted eve”, our book says, “it must have been the grape”.
frivolous, intense, sexy, dirty, crisp, full-bodied, light-bodied, fruity, earthy, cherry, blackberry, grapefruit, apple, dry, oaky.
those are just a few descriptors used for the juice.

from wines that pair naturally with our food, to the wines that steal
the show...

from around the world and our own backyard...

food and wine

contrasts are a beautiful thing, i.e. complex with simple, spicy with sweet, salty with fruity.
but sometimes similar comparisons are the way to go,
i.e. tangy with tangy, earthy with earthy, sweet with sweeter.

have fun with this, as rules are meant to be...

wine policies...

none really.

no corkage on the first bottle - if we don't carry that special bottle, bring it in.

if you would like a taste of any wine we offer by the glass, just ask.
want a half glass, let us know.

wish you could take a case of your favorite wine home, ask us about retail pricing.

the point!

in sipping, tasting or quaffing...be sure to experiment and enjoy!

bordeaux and bordeaux style blends

the benchmark for the wines that are known as blends. the bordeaux region is split into two banks, right & left, sound familiar? the left bank wines are predominately cabernet sauvignon based with a touch more power & robust qualities, while the softer, more approachable merlot based wines are on the right bank. these wines are often referred to as 'bordeaux style' or 'meritage' in regions outside of bordeaux, france. they blend cabernet sauvignon, merlot, cabernet franc, petit verdot & malbec traditionally. below are wines using 2 or more of these grape varietals to bring out balance & complexity.

“oenotria” is what the greeks called this land over a thousand years ago. meaning “the land of the vine” & it truly still is. in the northwest, we have piedmont, where nebbiolo is the red grape and provides the juice for the great barolo and barbaresco. in tuscan, sangiovese is the ruling red grape in the wines of chianti, carmignano, and the infamous brunello di montalcino.
